

SEN. GAREY NAMED TO GOOD STATE OFFICE

Harding Certain of Renomination; Policies Outlined

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.
(This is the first of a series of nine articles by David Lawrence on presidential possibilities and impossibilities, giving an appraisal of the political assets and liabilities of the men most talked about today for the presidency and the chances of their nomination. Mr. Lawrence has just finished a tour of the western part of the United States with President Harding and is now en route to Europe to make a detailed survey of reconstruction problems there. At the conclusion of this series Mr. Lawrence's daily cables from Europe will begin exclusively in the Janesville Daily Gazette.)
President Harding may or may not have won the confidence of the country on his western trip—that is a matter for the 1924 election to decide—but he has certainly assured himself of renomination. It will take a political earthquake to dislodge him.
Before the president went west there were all sorts of rumors to the effect that he was not particularly keen about a second term and that he might be dissatisfied with the results of the first term. These were predicted on the assumption that he would find himself unpopular in the west and that he would be much more likely to decline to be a candidate for re-election.
But now that he has returned from his tour of the west, it is believed that he is in a position which would make it almost certain that he will be re-nominated. The president can say with authority that the true viewpoint of Warren Harding has not been accurately reflected by those who have predicted that Mr. Harding was seeking re-election.

MAY ALLOW DENATURED FIGHT FILM

Chicago.—Motion picture films showing scenes around Shelby preceding the Dempsey-Gibbons fight there, July 4, but not showing the actual fighting, were submitted to the federal authorities here Friday for inspection.
It was said the government authorities probably would permit the pictures to be exhibited.
Companies owning the films notified the federal agents in their presence in Chicago today. It was at first reported that films of the fight were seized.

ITALIANS IN MOB THREAT AT MADISON

Madison.—The entire east side was aroused Thursday night when a mob of Italian immigrants, led by a man named John, marched down the streets and threatened the homes of the Italian section, rode to Baldwin and Williams streets, parked their cars and issued threats and challenges to residents.
The mob was said to be organized over an affair of Wednesday night when a group of east side boys pounced on an Italian boy who was walking in the streets with an east side girl. Police were called Thursday before an outbreak occurred.

LAST GASP OF LEGISLATURE

Madison.—The two houses of the legislature are to hold short sessions at 2 o'clock this afternoon to receive the reports of the committee on enrolled bills and report the bills to Governor Blaine. Two or three members only are expected to be present in each house, as there are not more than a half dozen members of both houses in the city. Present plans call for final adjournment of the session on July 11.

COURT'S CAN'T BARELECTION

St. Paul.—The courts have no authority to enjoin the officials of the executive departments from holding an election called by the governor to fill a vacancy in the representation of this state in the United States senate, the state supreme court declared in its opinion handed down Friday in a case involving the special senatorial election called by Gov. J. A. O. Preus.

YOUNG FARMER IS KILLED BY BOLT

Waukesha.—Philip Lane, 26, was struck and instantly killed by a bolt of lightning while crossing a barbed wire fence on his farm in the town of Cassel yesterday. The body was found by a brother.

TERRORIST PLOT TO MURDER NEWS NIPPED IN VIENNA

27 ARRESTED IN RAID ON CONSPIRATORS IN AUSTRIA.
SEIZE MUNITIONS
Premier, Political Leader, Magistrate and Zionist Among Intended Victims.
Vienna.—Charged with conspiring to murder a number of leading Jews and liberal members of other faiths, 27 young men belonging to a terrorism band have been arrested. The police assert they found a list of those marked for extermination in a warehouse filled with ammunition and guns belonging to the band.
Heading the list of those marked for assassination were: Premier Seipel, Dr. Deutsch, socialist democratic leader; Sobel, one of Austria's new "billionaires" and Stricker, a leading Zionist. A majority on the list were Jews.

UNCLE SAM GETS MORE INSTRUCTION

Score of Orders Now Received from Wisconsin Solons on How to Govern.
Washington.—Two resolutions, received Friday by Vice President Coolidge from the Wisconsin legislature, for presentation to the senate when it meets in December, brought the total submitted to him by the state to 20. Of which 17 propose amendment of the constitution or enactment of federal laws. Those received Friday advocated a soldiers' compensation act and urged Congress to prohibit the drafting of troops for military service abroad.

12-HOUR DAY IN STEEL INDUSTRY TO END—HARDING

MANUFACTURERS PLEDGE SHORTER HOURS, TACOMA IS TOLD.
GREAT SENDOFF Southwest Washington Gives President and Party Hearty Reception.
Tacoma, Wash.—Tacoma's welcome to President Harding Thursday, before his departure for Alaska on the transport Henderson, was not a whit less enthusiastic than the greeting accorded him in other cities—this despite the fact that the first rain since his arrival in the city kept up all day, but the crowds lining the streets early awaiting his arrival and huddled in the big open air stadium where he made his address of the day, good two hours before he was scheduled to appear there.
Following the arrival of the chief of state, the celebration continued.

FRANCE FIRM BUT FRIENDLY

Paris.—French government circles gave out Friday that France was rather favorable than otherwise of the lengthy conversations over the reparations problem in progress in London. The negotiations indicated the allies were getting together and talking things over in a most friendly manner, but it was frankly stated there was no sign that France was willing to modify her previously announced reparations program, to which the British are opposed.

NAME SPARTA SCHOOL HEAD

Madison.—C. D. Lehman, instructor in pattern making of the University of Wisconsin for three years, has been appointed by the state board of control as superintendent of the state school for neglected and dependent children at Sparta, succeeding L. H. Prince, recently removed.

5 KILLED, 10 INJURED IN ROCKFORD WRECK

Rockford, Ill.—Five men are dead and 10, seriously injured, are in hospitals here Friday as a result of the derailment of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul fast freight train Thursday night at Fairdale, Ill. The dead are all negroes. Some of the injured may die.
The wreck was caused by a broken rail, officials said. The victims were riding cars in the center of the train, 35-cars of which were derailed.
Chicago officials of the railroad expressed the opinion the dead and injured were tramps.
Reports of the train wreck at Fairdale, Ill., were received at the Janesville station of the St. Paul railroad early Friday.

Worst Storm of 1923 Hits County Causing Damage

Rock and Jefferson counties and other sections of Southern Wisconsin experienced the most severe rain storm of the year Friday morning and the worst since a year ago last May when great damage was done here by the rain and wind. In a little more than an hour and a half three inches of rain fell in Janesville, melting river out of the streets, causing washouts in some gravel streets, flooding basements and doing irreparable damage to gardens. Reports throughout the county and adjacent territory show the heaviest rain to have been from Janesville south to Beloit and north toward Jefferson.
LATEST TWO HOURS.
The miniature cloudburst started pouring between 1 and 2 p.m. and continued until after 7 o'clock. Milwaukee street looked like Rock river had overflowed its banks. Automobiles floundered in the slush in the water and about 10 cars were stalled on the Beloit road between Janesville and Beloit when the water carried sand and mud into the middle of the concrete pavement. An interurban went off the track and Train No. 617 Milwaukee to Madison, on the Northwestern, was delayed about 30 minutes at Jefferson Junction.
The cloudburst was accompanied by a strong wind, blowing from the northwest. The report said that the cloudburst flooded the tracks with water near the passenger station and washed out the sand and gravel of the tracks. The train was detained by way of Clyman Junction.

CANTILLON RITES CONDUCTED HERE

Many Out-of-Town People, Including Railroad Officials, Attend Funeral.
Railroad men, among them officials of the C. & N. W. railroad, and many relatives from out of the city attended the funeral of James Cantillon, C. & N. W. railroad official held at 8:45 Friday morning at the home of his late wife's aunt, Mrs. William Kober, 221 Lincoln street. A high mass was celebrated at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's church with the Rev. Dean James R. Ryan officiating and the Rev. Edward Ulrich conducting services at the grave in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

FISHERMEN ARE HELD IN PRISON'S DEATH

Franklin, Wis.—A second autopsy of the body of John Strand, 40, a fisherman who was found and between two boats in 10 inches of water in the river Wednesday, revealed that he had suffered a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain. Three men with whom he had been on a fishing trip are being held without bail as material witnesses. They were found in a boat near the body of Strand in a state of intoxication.
Strand is characterized by witnesses as a clean living, hard working home man. His wife alleges foul play.

Water Pumpage High in June on Account of Heat

Due chiefly to the prolonged heat waves, water consumption in Janesville last month was 66,266.350 gallons, an average of more than 2,200.00 gallons a day. It was the second largest month for the city water plant since September, 1921, the other high month, when the average was 67,591.025 gallons were pumped.

Hold Funeral of Johnstown Man, Killed by Fall

ROCK COUNTY SENATOR GETS A $4,000 STATE JOB

SEN. A. E. GAREY
Appointed Secretary of State Civil Service Commission, Friday.

Goldfield Periled by Great Fire

Tonopah, Nev.—Carried by a wind of hurricane force that is roaring its defiance of dynamite and water, a great fire is sweeping over the gold camp of Goldfield, 30 miles to the south. Hundreds of refugees are fleeing to the hills carrying their hastily collected effects with them.
At 10 o'clock, Newton Crumley, proprietor of the Goldfield, estimated that the fire had done $1,500,000 damage. At that hour it had swept main street from end to end, reducing the big Cook Bank and Nye County bank buildings to smoldering ruins and leaving many other blackened and smoldering ruins in its wake and had jumped across to Columbia avenue, where it was roaring toward the post office and the hotel. An attempt to dynamite a fire trail proved futile in the face of the wind and the utility of this endeavor was intensified by the virtual failure of the water supply. The water is from a spring several miles away.
Thirty automobiles were burned in the Brown and Barker garages where the fire is said to have started. Crumley, who led a fire fighting detail was cut by flying glass and slightly hurt and there were unconfirmed reports that some of the fire fighters were buried by falling walls.
A relief committee was hastily organized here before noon and rushed several automobile loads of foodstuffs to the stricken town. All wire and rail communication was cut off from the fire area.
The last stand of the fire fighters is being made "before" the Goldfield hotel; the Elks building and the postoffice. The Goldfield Tribune, the office of the Goldfield consolidated Mining company has already been destroyed. Late arrivals from Goldfield say that the town was not a chance to save the town.
Both the telephone company and the Western Union offices were burned down at the beginning of the fire, which cut off the town from the world. The fire spread rapidly and took the masonic temple which was the old and famous Montezuma club building, jumped across the street and destroyed the building that once housed Tex Rickard's northern season where the fight promoter made his headquarters. The new frame buildings on both sides of Main street as far as Ramsey.

MADE SECRETARY OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION TODAY

WILL NOT RESIGN AS SENATOR HOWEVER FOR 18 MONTHS.
KEEPS TWO JOBS
Rock County Senator Rewarded for Winter's Battle for the Governor.

Madison, Wis.—State Senator Alva E. Garey of Rock County was elected secretary and chief examiner of the state civil service commission at a meeting of the commission today. Senator Garey will succeed Robert G. Sharpe who has resigned to accept a place on the state board of control.

Senator Garey will take up his new duties tomorrow. His election will not entail his resignation from the senate, it is said, as the duties of the two offices will not conflict, at least not until the next legislative session eighteen months hence. The election of Senator Garey was by unanimous vote of the three members of the commission. There were no other applicants for the place.
The office carries a salary of $4,000 annually. R. M. Sharp has held the office for the last two years. James A. Hancock, R. A. Oconomowoc, was re-elected president of the commission. The other members of the commission are Genna Thompson of La Crosse, who recently appointed and B. J. Castle of Madison.

Dies After Auto Crash at Elkhorn

Elkhorn.—Orlo Johnson, East Troy, died here early Friday morning from injuries sustained in an automobile accident at midnight July 4, near the John Brown farm, four miles north of Elkhorn. Johnson and Ray Loomis, who was riding with him, sustained fractured skulls when their car crashed into the rear of a Buick driven by a Milwaukee party which was parked at the side while changing wheels. A operation was performed in an effort to save Johnson's life.
Physicians at the hospital here, where both men were taken, said a bullet had struck Johnson in the chest, the clothes pocket of one of the men. Loomis' condition was not regarded as serious and he was taken to his home in East Troy. Johnson was about 28 years old. He will be buried at East Troy. He leaves a wife and two children.

BALLOONISTS STILL IN AIR IN BIG RACE

Indianapolis.—Some of the 13 balloons which left this city late Wednesday in the fight for Friday had not yet landed early Friday. The race was uneventful. Ralph Upson, Detroit, piloting the "Detroit," probably had the most thrilling experience. When his craft was about 28 years old, the bag split, and he with his aide was forced to descend. In their basket which, by being cut loose from the gas bag, formed a parachute. Upson and his aide, in navy craft A-6074, were forced to seek lower levels in a thunder storm, and fouled in a tree. Upson, however, was rescued by a man above eastern Ohio, the American Legion balloon was driven southeast into Pennsylvania, and landed in a walnut tree. The pilot, C. E. Culbert, came to earth without injury.

INJURED BOY MAY RECOVER

Delavan.—The condition of Rex Wilcox, Beloit youth, in a hospital here suffering from a severe fractured skull, the result of an explosion of a cannon here July 4, was reported Friday as somewhat improved. Wilcox, a member of the Beloit team, was injured by a shell fragment from a short time Friday. It was said he may recover if he pulls through the next three or four days and no complications set in. He was an athlete in high school and has a splendid physique.

Farm Bureau Official Information

CHAMPION "KIT" STARTS OUT GOOD FOR NEW RECORD

"KIT," the champion grade cow, owned by Rockwell and Katterhenry, Beloit, is going good another year's run.

This remarkable cow produced 2,619 pounds of milk and 23.8 pounds of butter-fat in 30 days. She has proved to be a consistent producer.

The herd of L. Walmer was high in production for June, averaging 1,051 pounds of milk and 12.5 pounds of fat. This is the highest test for a herd in the Beloit association. Below is the list of hard averages where the cows produced a pound of fat or more a day.

BEEKEEPERS HOLDING DEMONSTRATION SAT.

Members of the Rock County Beekeepers' association will meet Saturday afternoon on the farm of J. L. Robinson and plans made for the exhibit to be made at the Janesville fair and array of bee products to be shown at the state fair in the county building.

A complete bee demonstration from a colony of bees to the graded honey ready for the pancakes, will be shown at the fair.

The beekeepers are also planning a county picnic to be held later this month.

REQUEST J. D. JONES TO SPEAK ON TOUR

John D. Jones, new commissioner of agriculture for Wisconsin, will be asked to speak at the annual Farm Bureau tour in Rock county July 19. A trip will be taken to the southeastern section of the county, visiting many of the best farms in the county and where interesting demonstrations have been carried on.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET ON MONDAY

Board of education will have its July meeting next Monday night, but as yet little is on the books of the clerk, Miss Lydia Ziemann, to come up at the meeting. The final bill of Van Ryn and DeGelleke, for architect services, may be presented, and some more equipment bills may be paid. The $32,000 now in the new high school fund is expected to be just about enough to pay for the outstanding bills for high school work.

MORE NEW PICTURES IN GAZETTE WINDOWS

Accidents, volcanic eruptions, races, and special features are all shown in the Gazette pictures, kept posted in the Milwaukee street window of the Gazette building. You read about a news event of world-wide interest one day. It is only a very few days later that you can see it pictured in the Gazette window. For instance, some of the latest pictures are:

- Mt. St. Helens eruption and the towns it threatens.
- Seven killed in elevated accident in Brooklyn.
- Seize liquor supply on British liner.
- Station dodas top hats for commencement.
- University of Washington wins intercollegiate rowing at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the first time for a western college to win.

CHERRY CANNING SEASON AT HAND

Raspberries Also Ready for Preserving Next Week, Say Local Grocers.

The canning season for strawberries and pineapples over housewives now turn their attention to cherries and raspberries, next on the list, and before another week has closed, should be in the midst of their canning of these two fruits.

Local grocers admit that prices are too high this week for canning, and that next week, the products will be coming in better and will be the cheaper. Red raspberries, which should be from 15 to 25 cents per quart for canning, now bring 20 cents and more. Black raspberries should be around 35 cents per quart to make canning a reasonable proposition, and they are now 60 cents.

Cherries can be put up now, if the housewife is successful in getting as many as she wishes. Of course, if she has a tree in the back-yard, now is the time to can, but if she depends on the grocery store, next week would undoubtedly be the better time to buy. Prices now asked is 15 cents a quart, $2.25 per case, and this will probably go a little lower.

SHERIFF DISPOSES OF FARM FOR $18,000

Sale of 199 acres of farm land in the town of Spring Valley was made Thursday afternoon by Sheriff Fred Boley to George Larmer, Spring Valley. Larmer's bid amounted to $18,000. The sale was the result of a judgment awarded Larmer in circuit court against John A. Radtke and Mary Radtke his wife et al. The plaintiff was represented by Roger Cunningham.

CITY-FARM UNION IN JEFFERSON CO.

Jefferson county has started a unique organization for the uniting of the agricultural and commercial interests of the county.

J. M. Coyner, county agent, declares that the movement should have the support of the farmers and C. A. Johnson, Madison, president of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association has called the new federation "Altona Taylor, of the American Farm Bureau federation added in the starting of the new civic-rural federation formed to promote the interests of Jefferson county."

Stress Music in Playground Work

Following the plan adopted last year to stress some different thing each week, directors of the various city playgrounds are this week emphasizing music, especially band and orchestra work. This was to have its culmination Friday when band and orchestra classes will be organized in each ward. The schedule was 10 a. m., Adams; 11 a. m., Washington; 1:30 p. m., Jefferson; 2:30 p. m., Webster; and 3:30 p. m., Douglas. These classes are to be for adults as much as for children, and weekly instruction in playing will be absolutely free.

A second town or those who have represented him as undecided whether he would strive to be renominated. Naturally Mr. Harding is anxious for a continuation in power of the republic party. Even as early as the first few months of his administration there were people who sought to discuss with him the matter of a second term. He always put it off, arguing that the business in hand was to make good in the term for which he was elected without thinking of a second one.

Making an Announcement

Just before he went to Florida Mr. Harding told friends who inquired about it that he did not feel it proper to make an announcement of candidacy one-way or the other and that he would let the matter which the republican party should decide for itself. Friends of the president, like Attorney General Daugherty, however, took it upon themselves to predict that Mr. Harding would be renominated, and while these public statements were accepted as the equivalent of an announcement by Mr. Harding himself, they were not intended as such by him. They were designed by the friends of Mr. Harding to checkmate possible opposition and to quell incipient booms. It was a case in which the friends of Mr. Harding boldly took the strategy into their own hands. Nor could the president show displeasure because the move was obviously in his interest.

THE FACT REMAINS THAT THE PRESIDENT FEELS IT IS NOT INCUMBENT UPON HIM TO SEEK THE NOMINATION. If his record is deserving of a renomination he would feel honored to have the party give it to him. It is too early to say what his attitude will be toward the primaries next spring, but not being a very ardent believer in the primary system, it will hardly be surprising if Mr. Harding refrains from entering the primary campaign.

Mr. Harding's Feelings

One of the reasons why so many political people have been intimating that possibly the president would withdraw from the race is their knowledge of his own sense of resignation to fate. He has said upon occasions that there were lots worse things in life than being beaten for the presidency. He is the type of man who when the rule of the majority is against him accepts the verdict with a feeling that he has done his best. Should he fail of renomination or re-election, Warren Harding will be a good loser.

But on the western trip the president himself was inspired by the warmth and cordiality of the receptions given him. He is convinced that what America needs at the present time is a continuation of his policy of calmly trying to avoid the extremes in anything. He believes more can be accomplished by steadily pursuing a middle-of-the-road, persuasive, conciliatory, indeed soothing, policy, in these days of trouble and confusion than by the spectacular method of the superstatesman.

The president's platform as thus far enunciated can be summarized as follows:

1. Agriculture—A generous extension of credits to rural enterprises with a promise of a comprehensive scheme for co-operative marketing to be laid before the next congress.
2. Transportation—Consolidation of railroads into regional groups with an expressed confidence that this will lead to substantial economies and indirectly bring about a reduction of freight rates.
3. Government Finance—Continued reduction of the public debt, unimpaired efforts to economize government expenditures, but with no promise as yet of further reductions in taxation. This is more likely to be made definite in the spring of 1924 when more is known of the revenue available.
4. Labor—A distinct expression of friendship for organized labor and a flat repudiation of the idea that the republican party will encourage any conspiracy to overthrow the unions or the advantages they have achieved in the last generation.
5. World Court—A willingness to meet the "irreconcilables" more than half-way to amend the proposal so as to detach the court from the league of nations in the selection of judges.

These are the essentials, but the president will also have a good deal to say on the subject of conservation of natural resources on his return from Alaska. This ought to be of great interest to the Pacific coast region where Mr. Harding will make addresses at Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles. The president thereafter will make several speeches in eastern and middle western states in September. He will not lose the opportunity to give his ideas to the public while he has the advantage of nationwide publicity.

Few presidents have known how effective a campaign can be when conducted from the White house, but Mr. Harding does, and he is starting in early. The real contest for presidential nomination will hardly be in the republican party but in the democratic party.

(Saturday will appear the first article on the chances of some of the aspirants for the democratic nomination for the presidency.)

Woman, Missing One Week, Found

Mrs. C. A. LaSore, missing from her home at 520 Milton avenue since last Friday and for whose return a reward of $50 was offered by the husband, returned home Thursday noon. C. C. Thanks All
Who Aided on 4th

The one sentiment of Oscar Nelson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, now that Janesville's
mammoth Fourth of July celebration is over and proved such a success,
is of thanks and gratitude to all those who aided even in the smallest
way. It was by the enthusiasm of those who took part and the many favorable comments of all that the success was made possible. Miss Mary Brown, dance director, Mrs.
C. A. Lukins, costume director, Max Tichonstet, lighting director, and Jack Tobo, assistant general director, all of Thurston Management, Inc., Minneapolis, are going to Independence, Minn., for a week's rest
after which they will take up new work. C. G. Stevens, general director, goes back to Minneapolis.

Many Voting in
P. O. Referendum

Between 1,000 and 1,500 votes
have been received at the postoffice
in the city-wide poll of sentiment regarding Saturday p. m. off for letter carriers within the city, and of this number, very few have been found registering against the request. It will be some time before the poll
will have its effect, however, as the votes must first be counted, the count submitted to Postmaster J. J.

Dr. Byron Meacher and Mrs. C. H.
Smith, Portage, have returned after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Grant, 303 Cornelia street.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns Brewer, Mrs.

LIBRARIAN HAS NO

PLANS FOR FUTURE

Miss Jennie A. Hulce, who resigned her post as head of the Janesville
public library the first of the week,
to take effect August 15, has returned from Chicago, where she spent the week end and the fourth.
She announces that she has made no

plans for the future, and will probably take a rest after 29 consecutive years of library work. The board of directors will meet next Friday
afternoon to take action on her resignation.

Mrs. Katherine Stern, 28 Harrison
street, has for her guest this week

$2,100 FIRE LOSS HERE FOR QUARTER

Well Covered by Insurance—103 Arrests in June, Most
in Several Months.

Janesville's fire loss for the three months ending June 30 amounted to $2,141, which was well covered by insurance, according to the quarterly report of Chief C. E. Murphy, presented to the council Monday night. There were 60 calls responded to, including 48 telephone calls for fire, 11 box alarms, four false box alarms, two calls for fire in the country and one for the luncheon.

Eight thousand feet of two and one-half inch hose and 1,050 feet of chemical hose were laid.

The department now consists of the chief, 20 regular men and three call men.

High Mark for Arrests
In June the police department set a new record for arrests in recent months, the total being 103, according to Chief Charles Newman's monthly report. This is an average of nearly three and one-half a day. Of this number, 74 were taken to court and 29 discharged.

Arrests were made as follows:

Gambling, 20; speeding, 14; intoxication, 12; violating arterial highway ordinance, 10; no-turn ordinance, 10; 10 lights, 7; parking ordinance, 6; disorderly, 5; possession of liquor, 4; for other cities, 4; attempted murder, runaway boy, non-support, 1; grand larceny, 1; driving sun stator, passing street car unloading passengers, 1 each.

Motocycle Patrolman George Porter again led in the number of arrests, with 45, while Stein had 23; Chapman, 2; O'Leary, 2; Ward, 2; Levanitz, 4; Saxby, Handy and Serstad, 2 each; Morrissey, Smith, Harmon,

and Chief Newman, 1 each.

Health Officer Huxy

Dr. Fred E. Welch, city health officer, reports June an unusually busy month for investigation of complaints and making examinations.

Eighteen cases of contagious disease were listed during the month, as follows: Scarlet fever, 2; measles, 2; diphtheria, 3; typhoid fever, 5; smallpox, 2; tuberculosis, 2.

Dr. Welch reports sending out 46 letters and 21 notices, making 29 investigations of complaints and 13 inspections.

Other work is listed as follows:

Emigration and disinfection of houses, 8; disinfection for release from quarantine, 2; examinations for communicable disease, 59; placards removed, 2; country calls, to check up on communicable disease, 2; interviews on public health work, 60; threat cultures for diphtheria carriers, 2; permits to work, 6; vaccination permits, 2; cases examined with physicians for communicable diseases, 2; check-up on quarantine, 2; calls at detention hospital, 2; calls at contagious ward of city hospital, 3.

WATT IS ORIGINAL

"COLONEL NONESUCH"

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Watt, who headed the Nonesuch brothers' parade Wednesday afternoon, were there for more than their venerable and dignified appearance. Mr. Watt was the original promoter of the Nonesuch brothers' parade of 1905.

He has had more than 14 years' circus experience. The parade was a success, show, Barnum and Bailey's and Burr Robbins. They rode in a carriage as "Grandpa and Grandma Nonesuch."

Cash Terms for Peace Plans.

Agreement has come on the part of both League advocates and irreconcilables that the offer of Edward Bok of a prize of $100,000 for a plan by which the United States may cooperate
for world peace, means some thesis on how the United States may enter the League. The weight and effect of such an understanding has removed
much of the force of the prize offering. There are some things in this world that money cannot
buy and among them are those intangible altruistic ideals which are spiritual rather than in such concrete form to be sold over the counter
like sugar and soap. Among them is world peace,
the elimination of greed and the commercializa-
tion of all our actions.

Whenever the heart of man demands that peace shall come we shall have peace. There are two great nations, commanding powers in the world, which do not want war, ever at any time—the United States and Great Britain. But there are others controlled by greed and racial hatreds and jealousies of territory which will always be quarreling and on the verge of an appeal to arms. As for a practical plan for making world peace, it was started 1900 years ago and
the plan was laid down by a traveling Preacher
among the barren hills of Palestine. Whenever that plan shall be accepted by all nations we shall have peace. It needs no $100,000 to stimulate it.
Peace is not to be handed out nor a peace plan,
made which will be accepted because someone will give a prize. Such a great end is obtained not because some one offers cash but because men and women are willing to make sacrifices to secure
what Mr. Bok would commercialize.

As the first entry however in the contest,
the Gazette submits to whatever committee may have
the award in hand, as its only entry, the Four Gospels, according to any version of the New Testament.

When an immovable object meets an irresistible force then comes the referee's decision.

The Arrival of Mr. Comings.

Let us hail with gladness and song the arrival of the lieutenant governor of the state in the political arena. In looking over his card of admission is found about 20 years out of date, but why let that matter worry? If there is anything we want in Wisconsin it is a little bit of the politics of the state. Heretofore it has all been taken too seriously. Mr. Comings—George Comings—
lieutenant governor, will furnish the gaiety.
It is a laudable ambition to be governor. Mr.
Comings thinks that after Mr. Blaine anybody
might aspire to the office. He has a platform
also, that, while not unique and patterned very largely after that of W. Z. Foster, the communal radical, will be a very joy to the band of angels
in the state who think that all we need is a volume or two more of law to bring the millennium.
For your Uncle George believes in law—plenty
of it—gobs, hunks and slathers of law; law piled
up on the plate and running down the sides—
law just the way the hungry and hot youngster
wants his ice cream cone. Uncle George wants the government to do something besides sitting around and gossiping and trifling things like that. Yes, sir. If Uncle George had his way nobody need worry about anything at all. The government would run the whole shooting match—
the stores, factories, mines, railroads, street cars,
motor buses, bootlegging joints and all. It would be a great relief to have the government do this and for a citizen not to be obliged to go down to work on a hot morning—just have an adjutant general bring the dinner to you on the front porch.

Uncle George is 75 but that is no bar. He has a mind that thinks as clearly as though he were much older, say along about 80, and had more experience. There is a great work ahead for Comings. Some thousand or more freak notions of legislating prosperity into the folks have not yet been tried and are ready to be made into laws when some one will father all of them. In-
to this breach Uncle George has come as a lamb
to the sacrifice.

For many years Ohio had a character known as "The Immortal J. N." Tall, commanding, well-dressed, a man of great presence, he lived well
from the toleration of others. Into a town or village he came every so often and would distribute dodgers announcing that at such and such an hour "The Immortal J. N." would "assume the pressure" and "lift the veil." But he never did either and he died without having disclosed
his great secret. But some one else was bound to follow who would accomplish the mysterious
work for the human race in which the mentally disturbed "J. N." had failed. Perhaps we are to see the veil lifted and the pressure be assumed by
the lieutenant governor of our great state and the unfinished work of "The Immortal J. N." at last be completed.

Woodrow Wilson might write a thesis on world
peace for the Bok hundred thousand prize.

Birds of a Feather.

One notes with some satisfaction in being set
right about its purpose that C. E. Ruthenberg,
of Cleveland, Ohio, who was convicted under the Michigan syndicalism law in a trial following that

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Young men who take up newspaper work as a profession almost invariably look forward to a berth as Washington correspondent as the top rung on the ladder, of success. To them the national capital is the most interesting field for the most interesting work in the world.

It is a medal of honor—a citation for distinguished services. Even more than that, it is opportunity, a chance at big news. It means daily contact with the great and near great, and being constantly in touch with the most important national and international events. It means knowing what makes the wheels go around and who does it. It means being behind scenes.

Presidents and cabinet ministers and what not
other dignitaries may come to call a fellow to-
day. His name, if established, may be cultivated and his name established, confidences earned and
held, that are the enduring satisfactions of life.
Memories may be laid by that will enrich later
years.

And one may play golf with the first citizen of the land, and know how good—or how poor—he is at the game. One may be of his entourage
when he sets forth for foreign capitals in a time
of crisis, with a whole world hanging breath-
less on his every utterance, or may accompany him on long swings around the circle that are
a part of the great game of politics as tradition
says it must be played.

After all, one will be working in a field where there is always a story that is worthy of the first page and big headlines.

Of such is the fascination that the envious and
ambitious eyes of youth see in the life and job
of the Washington correspondent.

However, there is another side to the picture,
such as was revealed in the grim tragedy at Denver that cast a pall of gloom over President Harding's tour to Alaska. An automobile plunged down a mountain side and Sumner Curtis was dead, and Don Craig and Tom Dawson, two other veterans of the corps of Washington correspondents, were in hospital cases, the latter dying within 24 hours.

Joy-riding? Not a bit of it. Wherever the president of the United States goes, entertainments and sidetraps are arranged for him and the members of his party that are a part of the serious business of the tour. They can not be avoided.
Local committees are more than hospitable.
They are insistent. They have an opportunity to show off the attractions of their city and its environs to a group of distinguished guests and they will not be denied.

In this instance it was a drive up a wonderful
mountain roadway of which the people of Denver
and Colorado are extremely proud. A few years ago, when President Wilson was on tour, it was a similar drive out of Portland along the Columbia river, and in a similar accident Ben Allen
lost his life and Bob Small and Stan Reynolds
were seriously injured. And there are old-timers among the Washington correspondents who still have attacks of "nerves" when they remember a trip up Mount Ranier with President Taft or a wild dash through the city of Pittsburgh at a 70-
mile an hour clip in the wake of an automobile
that carried the same important presidential load.

Going back a bit further there may be recalled the New England trolley accident, in which
one of the secret service men guarding President Roosevelt was killed. No newspaper men were in that, but they were hard on the heels of the trolley.

It is all in the day's work. Curtis, Dawson
and Allen were killed, and Craig was injured, in the line of duty, and they were and are good soldiers all.

It is a hard, grueling job, calling for long days
of strenuous activity under a nervous strain and
tension that is never relaxed, and carrying with it inconveniences and discomforts that are not offset by beautiful scenery and lavish entertainments.

These tragedies serve to show that the Washington correspondent's life is not all beer and skittles—was not, indeed, in the days when beer
was something more than a memory.

The associations, the experiences, and the tasks
that go to make up the life of the Washington
correspondent are truly wonderful and truly understandable. Of them, and in fact, most of them, it is a life rich in opportunity to those who would serve their fellowmen by chronicling and interpreting current happenings in governmental affairs
in this and other countries. It has its thrills, its triumphs, its disappointments, its defeats. It makes whole-souled, cheerful optimists of some; it makes cynical pessimists of others. It keeps some men ever young; it ages others quickly.

But always it takes heavy toll of physical virility and nervous energy. It is a 24-hour-a-day job. The correspondent must never get out of touch with his office—or out of reach of the message that may come flashing over the wire any hour of the day or night. He can never go to sleep serene in the consciousness that he has covered his beat, and he never knows when or where a story will break that has a Washington
end that he must handle. Come great occasions,
such as national conventions, international conferences, and the like, and the correspondents
are strangers to sleep and enjoy only a fleeting acquaintance with food until the affairs are over.

For Washington correspondents must have an omnivorous mind that takes in and holds a little bit
of everything. He must have integrity, poise,
discernment, imagination, tact, patience and perseverance. He must know how to make friends
and hold them; he must know how to use them
and not be used by them. He must be in love with his work and find his reward primarily in the satisfaction of doing it well or acceptably, for
he will get little else out of it.

Labor party to be organized next fall. It would seem that both the real farmers and the actual
laborers of the nation might get out an injunction against using these names for a party insti-
gated by political time servers and open enemies
of the government. It is to be noted also that our own leading radical, Lieut. Governor George F. Comings, was also a member of the council, which formulated the party program.

Birds of a feather, surely.

Shelby received the heaviest knockout after all.

Let us take notice that if the rush here under
the three per cent immigration rule is so great,
what then would be the numbers in the flood had
we no bar at all as before the restrictive law
was passed? It would be enough to win applause from Mr. Chairman Gary of the steel corporation.

It is pleasing to note that enough of the swivel
chair commanders are left in Washington to man
the office feet.

Having taken most of the Rhine, the French
ought to get down to the meat pretty soon.

The bigger and better his army gets to be, the less Trotsky is a bolshevik and the more he takes
on the attributes of a czar.

Europe may be leading the world in art, but it seems impossible for any of the artists to design
money that will pass at par.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE YOUNG OLD MAN

Now I cannot throw a ball.
Cannot see its flight at all.
I am old and bent and gray
And have lost the right to play.
And these legs which used to run
Nimbly in the morning sun,
Need the bolster of a cane
Just to keep me on my feet.
But one marvelous gift I hold—
I can be both young and old.

Here within my easy chair
I can wander everywhere
When you are fast asleep
And you think my eyelids close.
I am seeing in review
All the joys which once I knew;
I am playing ball once more,
As I played it long before.
You were born. At seventy-three
What I wish now, I can be.

I can be as young as you,
Doing everything you do,
Ten or twenty years before
Now to let my eyelids shut
And whatever age seems fine,
I can say that it is mine.
I can climb an apple tree,
I can ship away to sea.
I can woo my girl again,
Walk with her along the lane.
Old and gray I am, but still,
I can be whatever I will.

I can be what I have been,
See the wonders I have seen,
Face adventure with a grin,
Fight to lose and fight to win.
Seventy-three, a long, long track,
I still can wander back,
Stopping here and stopping there
When the resting place seems fair.
You are young and bright of eye,
But both young and old am I.

Who's Who Today

MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, was one of the candidates for the presidency of the International Woman Suffrage
Alliance which, recently, concluded its session in Rome. Although she was not elected—that honor falling to Mrs. Corbett Ashby of England—she established herself as one of the most prominent and capable of the feminist cause in the United States and as one of the chief lieutenants of Mrs.
Carrie Chapman Catt in the fight for international suffrage.

It is no secret that Mrs.
Pinchot deserves much credit
for the election of her husband against the opposition
of the political machine in Pennsylvania. She persuaded him to enter competitive
politics and campaigned strenuously for him.

Mrs. Pinchot's keen perception of things political dates back to the Bull Moose days of Theodore Roosevelt.

Miss Cornelia Elizabeth Bryce of New York
city enlisted under the Bull Moose banner. Her family was a prominent one in the city of New York. Her father, J. S. Bryce, a democrat,
was one of the most prominent politicians
among the followers of Tammany Hall.

Among the most ardent supporters of the Bull Moose during the campaign was Gifford Pinchot. Tradition has it that Miss Bryce and this supposedly confirmed bachelor were introduced by Colonel Roosevelt during the campaign and that their marriage in 1914 was the culmination of this romance.

HISTORY OF TODAY

TODAY'S EVENTS.

King George and Queen Mary today celebrate
their thirtieth wedding anniversary.
Twenty-five years ago today Hawaii was annexed
to the United States by joint resolution of Congress.

Many prominent speakers are on the program
for this, the closing day of the International Christian union convention at Des Moines.
Problems of domestic commerce are to be discussed at a conference of representatives of the Department of Commerce in Washington.

Memorial services are to be held in New York
today for John Burley, former mayor of that city, who five years ago today met death in
an airplane fall while in the military service.

The People's Union of America, in session at Boston,
will devote today to the consideration of educational matters.

Acadia university and Rev. Frank W. Padelford,
general secretary of the board of education of the state of New York, will address the convention, scheduled as the principal speakers.

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARIES.

1759—Joshua Barney, who was a commodore in the U. S. Navy, was born in 1759 in Baltimore.
Died in Pittsburgh, Dec. 1, 1815.

1776—On the news of the Declaration of Independence, the leaders of the revolution fled to the island in New York was made into bullet.

1832—Maximilian, the ill-fated emperor of Mexico, born in Austria. Executed at Queretaro,

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO.

July 8, 1883.—There was a special meeting of the city council yesterday to elect a city treasurer, but there was not a quorum. The matter is causing much trouble, as candidates for the position are of both political parties and the council is not likely to act until the first of July.
O. Boggs will start carrying U. S. Mail between here and Richmond with his new coach,
made by Herman Bucholz.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

July 6, 1893.—Weather has been perfect the last two weeks for corn, but farmers are fearing a drought.—Fish Commissioner Richard Valentine came home from Chicago this morning happy, as his exhibit of fish at the fair is still there, in spite of its being a bone of contention between the two state boards.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

July 6, 1903.—Beloit, Edgerton, lake and up-
river resorts took people from the city on the Fourth as there was no city celebration.—Very few boys were injured by fire crackers on the Fourth, as they were not sold in large quantities.
Belonging to John Fisher and George Paris
won at Beloit yesterday.

TEN YEARS AGO.

July 6, 1913.—Sisters of Mercy are concluding
long months of work here, and now are enough money to go ahead with completing Mercy hospital.—W. R. Hayes will build the new Rock County Telephone company building
on East Milwaukee street, and plans to start
work at once. City health officer placed 27
houses during June.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

ONE VERY GOOD LITTLE BABY BOOK

Although I am inordinately fond of picking flaws in government health education publications I do think the United States department of labor's
children's bureau chief, Grace A.
Harris, secured a bull's eye when she submitted to her chief, Julia C. Lathrop, whose chief, the Hon. James J. Davis,
is secretary of labor, a revised edition of the bulletin, "Infant Care," by Mrs. Lathrop and Dr. Dorothy Reed Mendenhall and the children's bureau's advisory committee of pediatricians, Dr. Howard Childs Carpenter, representing the American Child Hygiene association; Dr. Julius Rees of the American Medical association,
and Dr. Richard Smith of the American Pediatric society. I, certainly do. And I have tried nobly to give credit where credit is due—but they divide it among themselves.

"Infant Care" is obtainable for a nickel, a half dime. They need the money in Washington. You get this free book off a hundred pages, all
about the care and feeding of babies,
by sending your 5 cents to the superintendent of publications, Grace A. Harris, Washington, D. C., and asking him to mail you a copy of bureau publication No. 8, "Infant Care."
United States department of labor,
children's bureau, Washington, D. C., free books. Everybody should learn to labor and to wait. After a few weeks maybe you'll get an official
letter from Washington about it,
saying nothing, however, and you wonder whether they have turned
your request over to the secret service for investigation. Then a few months later you will get another letter, saying which bill you will
with anxiety and alarm. Finally, about 13 years afterward, when the baby is
away at college, you get the free pamphlet.

You don't go wrong, therefore, if you follow the ideas and suggestions in this little free 5-cent government
publication entitled "Infant Care."
I can even apply everything that is said in it about such subjects as
"colds" and clothing—and that is saying a lot, when you consider how rubbish I am about some things.

But I am not a doctor, and I am not a superintendent of the department of education. I am only a physician and author.

The Riddle of the Spinning Wheel

By M. E. and T. W. HANSHEW

Being an Exploit in the Career of Hamilton Cleek, Detective
Copyright, 1922, by Doubleday, Page & Co., and published by arrangement with McClure Newspaper Syndicate of New York City.

SYNOPSIS.
In deadly fear of the lives of her father and others in the Duggan home at Ayvon castle, Maud Duggan seeks help from Scotland Yard and Hamilton Cleek, under the name of Deland, takes up the attempt to solve the mystery of the Spinning Wheel, which on occasions and without the aid of human hands starts running. Invariably a death follows. The head of the house is the old trisect Sir Andrew Duggan, his son by a first wife, the daughter and a second wife—a French woman and her son, Cyril. It is believed that the wife is plotting for the death of all in order that her son may be the heir of the estates. Cleek starts his investigations. He makes a number of acquaintances and finds that Ross, the eldest son, is an electrical expert. He has made his father angry by lighting the house on fire, and adding other modern innovations. It is believed that the second wife is attempting to have Ross killed and the heir. At a family gathering the elder Sir Andrew died. The next morning, in a chair in a moment when the lights go out, Maud Duggan tells Cleek, (Deland) about it.

"Because, don't you see? I hoped he would perhaps relent, and leave Ross's name where it was. The light on the poor boy would have been so terrible if he had struck his name out. Ross would never have got over the shock. He is so proud of his house, so wrapped up in it in every way."

"And did your father manage to destroy the will then before it happened?"

"No. He had it in his hands. I was wrestling with him, trying to get it away, and Paula had caught me by the shoulders and was endeavoring to get me away, too, when the lights suddenly went out, and—came up again. And there he was in his chair—dead. He had died. I did you say that you heard the sound of the spinning wheel 'humming' in the darkness? You really did hear that, Miss Duggan?"

"Yes—I would swear to it on my oath."

"And how then did your father die?"

"He was shot through his temple, I suppose (though he was stabbed as well) although there was no noise. Mr. Deland, nothing to tell us that the awful thing was happening; the falling of the curtain at that moment."

"Hm. I see. A soundless pistol—in fact, an air-gun. Any one in the house got such a thing, do you know?"

"She shook her head."

"Not that I know of, unless—"

"Why may I ask?"

"She suddenly started eyes up into his face, as though she realized that she had unguardedly been trapped into a damaging admission."

"Why—why—my brother Ross, Mr. Deland," she said in a hoarse, frightened voice.

CHAPTER IX
A Double Tragedy

Cleek sat forward in his seat suddenly, every nerve alert at this somewhat startling piece of news. Oh! So Ross Duggan was the only person possessing an air-pistol—and the laird had been killed by means of one. He shot through the head in a dastardly fashion. And it certainly wanted looking into! And the movement had been chosen with such precision that the man who had shot himself had never made a sound. And Ross Duggan still stood as chief heir to his father's estates.

"That was a queer thing—a very queer thing! He flung up his eyebrows and twitched the corner of his mobile mouth."

"Your brother, Miss Duggan? I see. And how long ago was it that he bought that pistol, may I ask?"

"And for what purpose?"

"She gave an uneasy laugh which ended in a little sob that brought a look of pity to his eyes."

"Oh—ages and ages! Quite a couple of years ago, I think. Ross and a fellow officer who was here for the fishing got it together. Ross had thought of a new idea for killing the big salmon after they had been played so long, and about exciting everyone at him, of course, and the thing never turned out to be anything; but Ross's idea was to shoot them as soon after swallowing the hook as was possible, and the soundless pistol wouldn't light on the other fish. It was a ridiculous idea—but Ross, though not nearly so much sport from the fisherman's point of view as you know, Mr. Deland—and he tried it only once. He was teased out of it after that."

"And the pistol?"

"I really don't know. I never saw it again, and in fact, forgot all about it. But of course, Mr. Deland, Ross couldn't—couldn't—oh, I beg of you, don't think of such a terrible thing for one instant! Ross adored his father always, in spite of the bad blood between them of later years."

"Quite so. Only, naturally, in the pursuit of duty one must ask all manner of irrelevant questions. You understand that, Miss Duggan, I hope? Of course your brother Ross would not think of such a thing. But if he is the only possessor of an air-pistol, well, naturally, circumstantial evidence will be rather unpleasant for him—unless something else turns up. I'd like to see your brother, if you please, and have a chat with him. And then he will show me the pistol, and let me know what he has to say. He is so proud of his house, so wrapped up in it in every way."

"By the way, how far away is the nearest police station?"

"Quite so. Only, naturally, in the pursuit of duty one must ask all manner of irrelevant questions. You understand that, Miss Duggan, I hope? Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young woman in the latter part of my twenties and have been going with a young man about the same age for the past few years.

We have always had more or less of an understanding that we would be married some time when he had a position that paid well. This he has now and he keeps pulling me off and says he must help his mother and father, which he does not have to do.

I love him and he certainly does me, but he has the idea I must wait for him as long as he wants me to. I feel we have gone together long enough.

How often should a boy friend's letter be answered?

What should I say when a boy has taken me to the show and is ready to leave me?

Send the boy a birthday letter or a greeting. If you much prefer to send a gift, I would suggest a book.

You can say in a sweet but emphatic way, "I would rather not have you put your arm there."

It is correct to answer each letter you receive. You should not write twice to the boy's once, however.

Tell the boy you have enjoyed the evening and that you would like to have him come to see you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Would it be all right to send a birthday card to a boy friend that I used to go with? He is married now. Or would you just call him up and wish him a happy birthday?

LITTLE MARY FREDERICK.

Do not do either. Since the young man is married you should leave him alone.

Red Crown Is Quality Gasoline

It is made to generate power in your engine—the kind of power which makes you smile as your car goes spinning over the roads, up hill or down, without apparent effort.

It is a gasoline of high quality and the quality is maintained. You, who use it regularly, can absolutely depend upon it, for it is always the same and may be obtained everywhere—every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.

That Red Crown quality is sustained is evidenced by its continual use by 2 1/2 million motorists.

Poor Gas Constantly Hacks at Your Motor

UNSATISFACTORY driving is the least important fault of poor, kerosenish motor fuel. Its real mischief comes inside the motor. It hacks at every angle of motor efficiency. It constantly exacts a premium price in run-down motor health.

Its loads of excess carbon jam the valves and clutter the combustion chamber. Its raw, wet kerosene washes past pistons and rings, sluicing the oil from their surfaces, and causing undue wear. Bearings are menaced by kerosene dilution in the crank case oil.

Wadham's
True Gasoline

—provides qualities exactly opposite. Its goodness only begins with its eager explosiveness and comfortable running. Its most important superiority rests on the protection it gives from kerosene-spoiled oil and carbon-choked valves. There is nothing about its sound, clean, thorough explosiveness to hack and batter at your motor's life.

Wills Next Opponent for Champ; Suzanne Retains Title

KEARNS BELIEVES BIG NEGRO BEST REMAINING MATCH

Grant Falls, Mont.—Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, probably will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent. Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion, said Friday. Kearns said he expected to finish his business here Saturday and would leave for New York to close negotiations for a match with Dempsey. The match was probably on Labor day.

"We want to box Wills if for nothing more than to convince the public that Dempsey does not draw the color line and has no fear of him," Kearns said. "The match was set a few months ago, but for some reason it was sidetracked. It is my opinion that it will draw better than a return match with Wills."

"Dempsey knocked him over seven times in one round and could do it again, so I don't see much object in fighting him."

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

ANOTHER of the splendid examples of courage that crop out in athletics every now and then, appeared in the person of a young man who was the Washington crowd won the Poughkeepsie regatta. It is of Dow Walling, stroke of the Huskies, that this is written. He was given up, that the big boy would be able to make his accustomed seat in the shell because of bolts on both legs, swelling them with infection. But when the time came for the race, the classic of college water sports, Walling was on deck. Suffering agony that only he knew, he displayed a spirit of gameness that shows the stuff of which heroes are made. Fit for the hospital, he pulled out and on, yard after yard. The critic he shoved invaded his comrades, and as he leaned forward, pulled back in powerful, graceful strokes of 33, 30, 28 and finally 40 to the minute they shot across the line in first place.

Tom Gibbons Gets Oil Land, Reward for Sturdy Fight

Shelby, Eddie Kane, manager of Tommy Gibbons, gave out the information here that Gibbons was given 40 acres of oil land and a reward of $10,000 for his sturdy fight against Dempsey.

It was rumored here that Campbell recently refused $10,000 an acre for the given Gibbons, as it adjoins property on which are several of Campbell's largest wells.

St. Paul—A big parade with several bands, hundreds of automobiles and other features is being planned as part of St. Paul's welcome to Tommy Gibbons when the local fighter returns Saturday from Shelby, Mont.

This is part of a tentative program announced Thursday night by a group of St. Paul citizens. Final plans will be completed Friday. Gov. J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota, Mayor Arthur E. Dahl of St. Paul, and other high officials have signified their intention of taking part in the welcome.

One of those who is reported, plan to greet Tommy will be his father, John Gibbons. Who taught Tommy much he knows of the fight game. The two had a quarrel several years ago and since neither has spoken to the other. The cause of their dispute never has been made public.

Reports from Shelby Thursday said Tommy had received a letter from Mike in which the "phantom" was quoted as expressing his regret at inability to attend his brother's clash with Dempsey but declaring: "I'll be on my knees praying that you win."

Jess and Firpo Nearing Trim for Scrap of July 12

New York—Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo, who will battle in a 12-round match at Boyles' Thirty Acres next Thursday night, are close to their fighting edges. Both plan but a few days more strenuous work before tapering off. Willard in his gymnasium quarters in Yonkers and the South American in his camp at Long Branch, N. J.

Willard has lost six pounds in the last two weeks of training, tipping the scales at 240 after 11 rounds of fast ring work Thursday. His present weight is eight pounds below the figure he scaled when he knocked out Floyd Johnson two months ago.

Firpo, though in fighting trim as a result of a strenuous training, has not slackened his program. After a road run and private workout Thursday under the direction of Jimmy DeForest his trainer, Firpo took a fast ring workout with Jack McWillie and Bill Tate, his sparring mates.

STAGING TITULAR SCRAP WILL COST SHELBY $100,000

Shelby, Mont.—(By A. P.)—Shelby, the little Montana cow town which has had its day as the world center of pugilism, today counts its losses. The great fight, financially in history of the sport. It must charge to experience, for the privilege of staging the fight, $100,000 for this is the amount lost. Paid admissions totaling $7,125 brought receipts of $20,483. The title holder will get $210,000, $20,000 for promotion and $85,000 for the arena. Salvage on the amplifier will bring $25,000. When the fight is over, the town will take $22,448.50 as tax, there will easily be a $100,000 deficit.

Sculling Champion Will Be Britisher; Last American Out

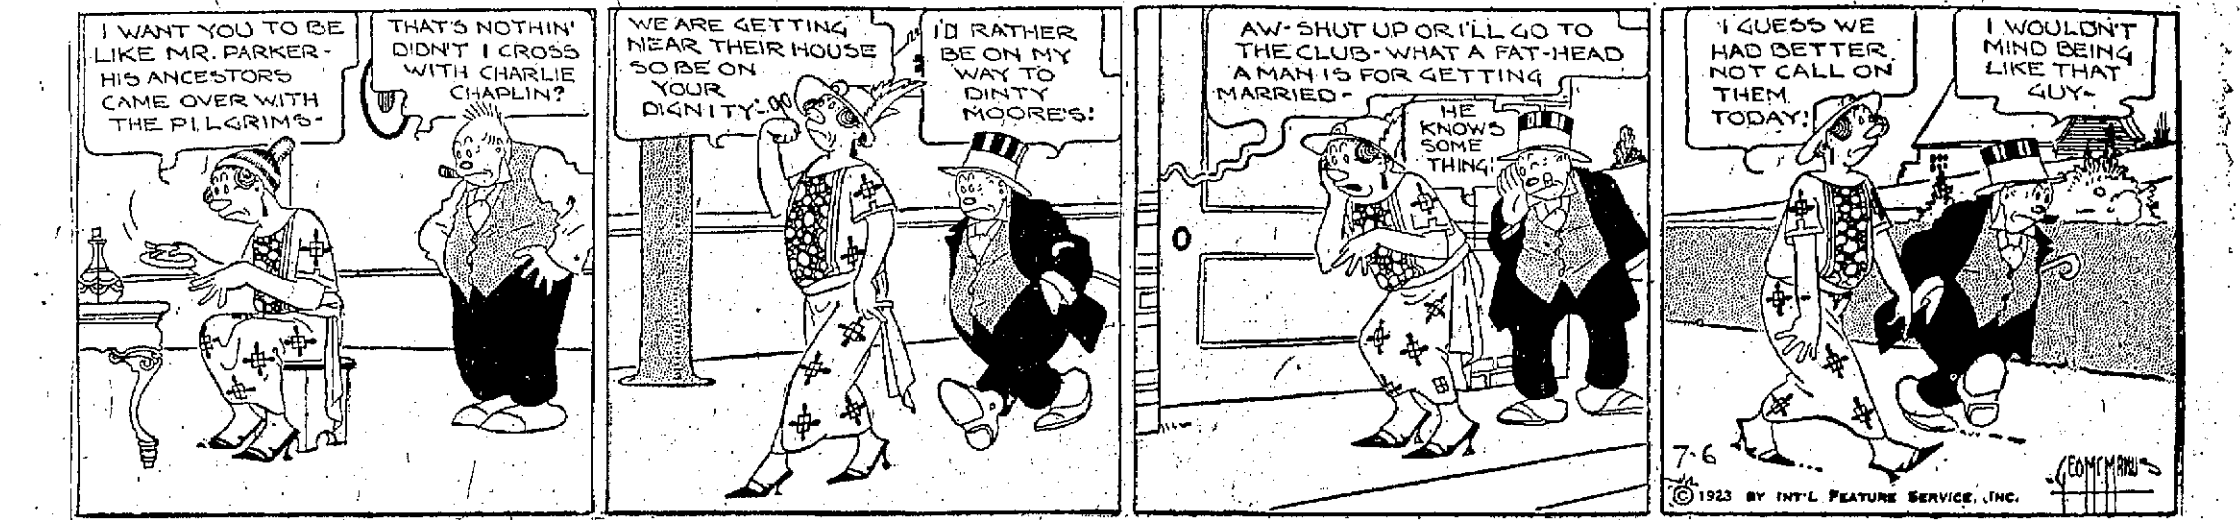

Henley on Thames.—The English tradition that the Henley regatta honors should be kept at home were lived up to on Thursday when the last of the Americans, Russell Codman, Jr., of Boston, sailed out of the race from the classic Thames carnival.

The Canadian champion, Hilton Belyea, however, parha's because of his dominion status, was allowed to remain in competition for the diamond sculls, for another day at least, ousting Dr. Rudolph Bosshard of Zurich, Switzerland.

The United States also had a little share in making the regatta all British, as the Oxonian, W. P. Mellen, who stroked the brave Brazenose college eight to victory, over the French crew, hails from America.

Codman followed Walter Hoover of Duluth, Minn., out of the diamond sculls competition, proving no match for D. H. L. Gollan, deaf and dumb British sculler who led from the start. On Friday Belyea meets Gollan, but the experts have little hopes of the ever-gas man winning. They expect Gollan and Bosshard to meet in the finals on Saturday and the latter is picked to win, as he did in 1922.

Southern Wisconsin Teams Watch Janesville Boosters As They Jump to 3rd Place

Janesville's defeat of Stoughton, 4-2, was the only near surprise of the week-end games in the Southern Wisconsin league. The Boosters jumped to third place from fifth in a list. Charlie Bick's performance in his debut with the Janesville team has made him solid with the fans, as was evidenced at the Fort of July games here when he was unable to overcome the jinx which stays with the Boosters' when playing on the home lot. Bick's smile is contagious and must often times get him out of a hole. He has a cool head and is a welcome addition to the Boosters.

Fort Atkinson's victory over Deerfield, 9-4, and Edgerton's walkaway with Cambridge, 10-0, were expected as Fort Atkinson has been defeated but once this year and then by Edgerton in that memorable 1-0 battle at the Tobacco. Edgerton was a cool head and is a welcome addition to the Boosters.

7 Former Champs at Open Tourney

(By Associated Press.)—New York Seven former American open golf champions and a galaxy of state, sectional and national title holders will tee off with a record field of 350 players next week at the annual open of the Pines and the crown now held by Gene Sarazen of Briar Cliff Lodge. Hagen and Barnes still are among the top flight of professional stars and will be favorites in next week's title hunt. McLeod also is capable of championship golf, but it is Smith and Sargent he ranks with the veteran club that has given way before the rise of a new generation of stars.

L. Hatzinger and Gresham, Slough-ton; W. Latsch, Deerfield; Herried and Heller, Edgerton; and Frankie, Fort Atkinson, are eligible to join the Pines and the crown now held by Gene Sarazen of Briar Cliff Lodge. Hagen and Barnes still are among the top flight of professional stars and will be favorites in next week's title hunt. McLeod also is capable of championship golf, but it is Smith and Sargent he ranks with the veteran club that has given way before the rise of a new generation of stars.

There were 59 safe clouts in all games Sunday. Edgerton leading with 10 safeties. Fort was next with 11, and others in order are: Janesville, 10; Stoughton, 9; Deerfield, 6; Cambridge, 4.

Sunday's contests are of much interest when one has an eye on the

SLOW MOVIES SHOW TRICKS OF FOOTBALL

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Slow movies of plays used by football teams to gain precious inches during the last season are employed by Coach Fielding H. Yost in instructing students in the football course this summer. Believe the actual sight of play will be of great value in instructing the future coach, especially for the men who have had but little opportunity to see large football games. Coach Yost said.

LEARN TO SWIM

By A. E. Bergman, Y. M. C. A. Physical Director

STEP 3—KICKING—Take a deep inhalation, plunge forward same as in Step 2, and in addition execute a propeller kick (leg movement up and down slightly under water, toes pointed. In this kick the hips and knees are only slightly involved, but the major motion is centered in the ankle. TAKE YOUR TIME: From this point to the end the instructor should frequently give this warning for the beginner usually endeavors to speed up, which leads to muscular fatigue and shortness of breath, and the instructor should demonstrate with a very slow kick the simplicity and ease required to keep the legs afloat, at the same time developing a propelling movement forward. Pronounced flexing of the thigh causes unnecessary friction, which retards forward progress.

If this step can be acquired, the beginner is actually swimming, for swimming is the ability to move along the surface of the water in a definite direction. It is extremely important at this point for the instructor to inform the pupil who has made progress with this step that he is actually swimming.

Suzanne Keeps Her Net Title

(By Associated Press.)

Wimbledon.—Suzanne Lenglen of France retained her title as woman lawn tennis champion of the world by defeating Miss Kathleen McKane, first ranking English woman, in the finals of the Wimbledon tournament Friday. The French star won in straight sets at 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. Mlle. Lenglen lost one of her many championships in tennis when she was forced on Thursday to give up her claim on the title to the mixed doubles championship of the world. She and her partner, Jean Washer, the Belgian champion, were defeated, 7-5, 6-3, in the semi-finals by the veteran tennis team, Randolph Tycott and Miss Elizabeth Ryan. It has been so long since Suzanne stepped off the court a loser that her defeat with Washer came as a shock to thousands in the stadium.

Washer is Southpaw. Washer is a left handed player and this was the first year Mlle. Lenglen had him for a partner, she having won last year with Patrick O'Brien, Wad of Australia. O. Vincent Richards and Mrs. Molla Mallory reached the semi-finals in the mixed doubles by squeezing out ahead of W. C. Crawley and Miss Kathleen McKane, of England, 6-4, 6-4.

Indianapolis—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, defeated Johnny Sheppard of Boston in their newspaper decision bantamweight fight.

Stockholm.—Edvin Wad of Sweden, running at Gothenburg, established a new world's record by covering 3,000 meters in eight minutes 30 2-5 seconds.

Chances for Youtths. Having reached the semi-finals, the Misses Austin and Colyer will play Mrs. Youle and Miss Rose and, if successful, will contest for the title on Saturday.

Mlle. Lenglen and Elizabeth Ryan advanced to the semi-finals in the doubles by defeating Mrs. Geraldine Beamish and Mrs. McNair, 6-1, 6-2. Randolph Lycett and L. A. Godfree advanced to the semi-finals in the men's doubles by eliminating W. Radcliffe and H. G. Aitken, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

"The One Hoss Shay"

By JAMES E. CROAKE

President The Varsity.

Not so very long ago, the old-fashioned "one hoss shay" was the accepted mode of transportation, but it would scarcely "class up" with the Rolls Royce of today. Time was when we relied upon the old "wick and oil burner" against stumbling in the dark, but today electricity illuminates the path of progress. As some one has aptly said, "the world do move," and we puny mortals must move along with it. When our present clothing stocks have been disposed of, we shall inaugurate our new merchandising plan; it will be revolutionary in character; it will usher in a new order of things, as regards the clothing industry; its influence will be felt over a wide-spread area. But first, we must sell every suit we now have on hand. So hurry, and let's make a quick job of it.

TIGHT PICTURES PLANE STOPS HERE

E. A. Aviator Spends Night in Janesville Enroute East from Shelby Flies.

Tight pictures from Shelby for the Janesville Gazette and other newspapers in the Central Press association on the way by airplane to Cleveland where the plane of the Central Press is located. The Central Press is one of the associations which started immediately after the fight with photographs and news as the picture of the Central Press is located on the way by airplane to Cleveland where the plane of the Central Press is located. Believing himself severely hurt in the crash, the aviator, E. A. Rounse, Buffalo, N. Y., aviator, "parked" his plane two miles south of Janesville at about 8 p. m. Thursday night and spent the night at the Myers hotel. Mr. Rounse, employed by the Newspaper Enterprise association, left at daybreak for Chicago and Cleveland. At Cleveland he will be met by another plane which will take the pictures to New York. He is piloting a Curtiss Oriole airplane.

At Shelby immediately after the crash at the same time as about 10 other planes rose into the air but I haven't seen any others. I was going on to Chicago but decided to stop here for the night when I saw I was heading into a storm," Mr. Rounse told a Gazette reporter.

It was reported that the plane of the New York Times had come down near Janesville. The Milwaukee Sentinel was advised Thursday night, but it could not be located here and it was believed possible that the Rounse plane had been mistaken for it. Pilot Rounse said he understood the Times plane went down at Bismarck, N. D.

"The planes ran into a lot of bad storms coming from Shelby," said Mr. Rounse. "I shall be several hours ahead of the train service if I make Cleveland Friday morning."

Day Nursery Is Reported Growing

Consideration of day nursery reports and needs occupied the greater part of the time of members at a recent meeting of the City Federation of Women Thursday forenoon, in the rest room. Mrs. Florence Hyde, chairman of the day nursery committee, reported that the attendance for June had been nearly double the number cared for during May. The daily average was 13 pupils.

New registrations numbered 12, three of whom are younger school children who have been in attendance since school closed. Expenses for supplies and laundry totaled $17.61, not including milk which is furnished by the Anti-Tuberculosis association. The report on the renovation expenses showed that $28 had been received by the Gazette and $3.50 by the Federation treasurer in response to the newspaper appeals, leaving a balance of $33.47 to be raised for this purpose. The board authorized the treasurer to draw on Federation funds to the extent of $20 for day nursery supplies.

Mrs. Percy Munger, health chairman, reported that the infant and maternal welfare conferences would continue to be held at the city hall here every four weeks until November, when the center is to be located in Clinton, for the second year.

ELKS ASKED TO WORK FOR ATHLETIC FIELDS

An appeal to the Janesville Elks' lodge to join in the movement for more playgrounds and athletic fields was received Friday in the form of a bulletin from W. T. Schad, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Elks' association. The appeal is in connection with a resolution introduced at the last grand lodge session. The bulletin calls attention to arrangements made for the annual state convention in Madison, August 23-25. City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham, past exalted ruler of the Janesville lodge, will attend the Elks' national convention in Atlanta next week.

POLICE SEEK LOAFERS AT SCHOOL GROUNDS

Police are keeping watch over the Washington school playgrounds and will pick up loafers found there at night as a result of action taken at the last meeting of the city council. Mrs. Emma H. Manning, chairman of the council committee on schools, reported the receipt of complaints on disturbances and loafers occurring at the Washington grounds after dark and up to midnight. In the discussion which followed it developed that sentiment was unanimous in favor of clearing the grounds of dusk and police were instructed to make arrests if the disturbances continue.

PASSES REQUIRED FOR SCHOOL VISITORS

Any persons or groups wishing to go through the high school, or to go to any part of it other than the offices are asked by Supt. F. O. Holt to go through the front door direct to one of the two offices on the main floor, and there secure a permit from a clerk. If these are locked, they are asked not to remain in the building. This is done as the only means of proper care of the building. Many paraders Wednesday went to the basement where they attempted to wash off their red Indian paint in the showers and even in the swimming pool. They were kept out of the latter just in time to save emptying the entire pool and refilling at an expense of more than $50.

HEARING JULY 13 ON PUBLIC WORKS

Assessments Figured for Close to 4 Miles of Sewer and Water Mains.

With plans, specifications and cost estimates prepared for the laying of approximately four miles of sanitary sewers and water mains this year, the committee on public works has given notice of a hearing to be held on special assessments July 13 at 2 p. m. at the city hall. Property owners may have opportunity to appear at that time to enter protests against the cost assessed against them.

After this hearing, it will be possible for the committee to advertise for bids for carrying out the project. The work consists of about 20 pieces of sanitary sewer and 20 water main jobs.

Each of the new work will be in the first ward but many other parts of the city will also benefit by the improvements. The committee on public works is composed of President J. K. Jensen, Councilmen C. Starr Atwood and A. J. Gibbons.

GAME WARDEN IN FORMER YEARS NOW FACES THE COURT

Several years ago Henry Baker, Allens Grove, was a deputy game warden and it became his duty to arrest men for selling trout in Turtle Creek in violation of the state fish and game laws. This week Mr. Baker was arrested for the same offense. He will have a hearing in Beloit July 14, when he will also answer to a moonshine charge on account of which he was arrested some time ago.
